

Do not contribute to the widespread ignorance of the American people. News has got to be owned by several companies in order for there to be many different outlooks on the events. If it is only owned by one company, then that one company would have the right to not report any news that they didnt think deserved reporting. That increases the chance that an event will go unreported. Please reconsider your actions.